Frequently Asked Questions:

What is QParentConnection?

An online platform available for all MUSD families to access student(s) attendance, class schedule, class progress, grades, and more!

Do I have QParentConnection?

You may already have an account because QParentConnection has been in place for seven years. If you were not able to give an email address when you registered your child, you may not be able to access QParentConnection.

If you believe you have provided an email address, you can have your login information emailed to you. Visit www.q.musd.net/parent and click the phrase “Need Your Login Information”.

What do I need to do if I don’t have a QParentConnection account?

If you do not have a QParentConnect account, the first step is to share your email with your school site to receive access. This process is only available to returning MUSD students.

What do I do once I have received access for my child(ren) to QParentConnection?

You are ready to update your information for your returning student online until August 17. The instructions are available at www.mantecausd.net/reenroll. Check the webpage for updates and current information.

Do I need to do this right away?

Yes. The window to fill out the online “First Day Packet” or “Orientation” packet is open now for all returning students. This opportunity will remain open until August 17, 2020. To receive their high school schedule, returning students will need to complete the online information prior to the orientation dates at the beginning of the next school year.

Will all my forms be available?

No. There will continue to be some forms specific to each school that are not available online. Therefore, you may still receive information packets mailed home during the summer, or in the first week of school, that are required as a paper copy.
